For what purposes and on what legal basis do we process your personal data?

(Art. 13 para. 1 c, d and 2 f GDPR)

We only process personal data that you provide to us during a visit.

The legal basis results from Art. 6 GDPR. The purposes of the processing depend on your request or according to the respective business relationship.

We process your personal data primarily to fulfill legal requirements and, if necessary, pass them on to third parties (Art. 6 Para. 1 c) DSGVO). The personal data is processed in accordance with Section 10, Paragraph 1, Sentence 2 of the Occupational Safety and Health Act (ArbSchG), which means that the employer must take the presence of other people into account in order to meet the requirements for the fulfillment of appropriate first aid, firefighting and evacuation measures. Referring to Regulation No. 1 of the German Statutory Accident Insurance (DGUV), according to Section 2 Paragraph (1) Sentence 3 of the DGUV regulation, the measures determined in state law also apply to the protection of insured persons who are not employees. Interroll GmbH must therefore also ensure that, in accordance with Section 3 Paragraphs 1 & 2 No.

As part of the fulfillment of data protection law, proper access control, to fulfill technical and organizational measures, your data will be queried when you visit reception and stored for a period of two months. This processing takes place as part of intra-group order processing in accordance with Article 28 GDPR between Interroll Holding GmbH (processor) and Interroll Automation GmbH (controller).

Furthermore, we process personal data to fulfill contractual obligations (Art. 6 Para. 1 b) GDPR), more precisely for the purpose of initiating, implementing or fulfilling a contract. These are, for example, ensuring correct order and contract processing. If a data subject is not a contractual partner himself - for example an employee of a business partner - the processing takes place for the same purposes as a legitimate interest in accordance with Art. 6 Para. 1 f) DSGVO.

In addition, we process personal data to protect the following legitimate interests (Art. 6 Para. 1 f) GDPR): maintenance of the business relationship, guaranteeing IT operations and security as well as assertion of legal claims, defense in legal disputes and implementation of proper access control (see above).

We only process your personal data for the purposes of information and advice on products and services and for market research if this is part of our contractual relationship or if we have received your consent to do so (pursuant to Art. 6 Para. 1 a) GDPR). and customer satisfaction analysis and for disclosure to third parties.

We do not use your data in any way for automated decision-making or profiling.

Who gets your personal data? (Art. 13 para. 1 e, f GDPR)

In principle, we do not pass on personal data to third parties unless you have given your consent or we have a legitimate interest or a legal regulation provides for this. If we outsource parts of the data processing to service providers by way of order processing, we conclude corresponding contracts for order processing with these suppliers in accordance with Article 28 GDPR.

We process your data exclusively in Germany and have no intention of processing the data in third countries.

How long is the data stored? (Art. 13 Para. 2 a GDPR)

In principle, we only process your personal data for as long as is necessary to fulfill the above-mentioned purposes. If we do not process your contact data for operational purposes, we store the data collected for visitor registration until the purpose for which the data was collected has been fulfilled and is no longer required, or until a period of twelve months has expired.

The legislator has also issued a variety of storage obligations and periods that we must comply with. These result, among other things, from the German Commercial Code (HGB) and the Tax Code (AO). The storage and documentation periods stipulated there are up to ten years.

After the purpose of processing has ceased to apply and any applicable retention period has expired, the relevant personal data will be routinely deleted in accordance with data protection regulations.

What rights and obligations do you have? (Art. 13 para. 2 b, c, d, e GDPR)

Every data subject has the following rights:

- According to Art. 15 GDPR you have the right to information. This means that you can request confirmation from us as to whether personal data relating to you is being processed by us.

- According to Art. 16 GDPR you have the right to rectification. This means that you can ask us to correct incorrect personal data concerning you.
- In accordance with Art. 17 GDPR, you have the right to erasure ("right to be forgotten"). This means that you can ask us to delete your personal data immediately - unless we cannot delete your data, for example because we have to comply with statutory retention requirements.
- In accordance with Art. 18 GDPR, you have the right to restrict processing. This means that we are practically no longer allowed to process your personal data - apart from storing it.
- In accordance with Art. 20 GDPR, you have the right to data portability. This means that you have the right to receive the personal data concerning you that you have provided to us in a structured, common and machine-readable format and to transmit this data to another person responsible.
